

|| 🧑 GET2 TEST RESULTS ||

The GET2 test defines an enterprising tendency as the tendency to start up and manage projects - highly enterprising people do this more often and are more innovative in their approach. This self assessment test aims to give you an idea of your enterprising potential, although it is important to note that there is much academic debate about the most important characteristics of enterprising people, and there is a role for education and training in helping people develop their potential.

Your responses to the test suggest the following results:

📊 GET2 Test Enterprise Rating

Ocassionally enterprising

The overall GET2 test score of 76% suggests that you are likely to have strengths in some of the enterprising characteristics and may be enterprising in some contexts. At this time in your life you may find that you are content to work on a limited number of projects and may be happy to be enterprising either within employment as an intrapreneur, or in your leisure time through voluntary community projects. However, if you have ambitions to have an innovative growth business, there is much you can do. Several universities, such as the Open University offer free courses online which may help you to build up your business knowledge and skills (see <http://openlearn.open.ac.uk> (<http://openlearn.open.ac.uk>)). There are also many MOOCs (Massive Online Open Courses) freely available on the FutureLearn platform (<https://www.futurelearn.com> (<https://www.futurelearn.com>)) to help you to learn about technology, business and the economy, learn languages and so on. If you have never set up an enterprise before you might consider starting a small project in your community that represents a minimal risk to your time and money, to build up your experience and expertise.

★ Need for Achievement

Having a medium score, you may recognise some of the following characteristics of a high need for achievement in yourself:

- An orientation towards the future;
- Reliance on your own ability;
- An optimistic rather than a pessimistic outlook;
- A strong task orientation;
- Effective time management;
- An orientation towards results, which applies to yourself and others;
- A restlessness, strong drive and high energy levels;
- Opinionated and ready to defend your ideas and views;
- A determination to ensure your objectives are met even when difficulties arise;
- Responsibility and persistence in pursuit of your aims;
- Goal-orientated, setting challenging but realistic goals;
- A willingness to work long and hard when necessary to complete tasks.

A medium score probably means you are good at achieving work and life balance.

Need for Autonomy

Having a medium score, you may recognise yourself being somewhat independent, individualistic and determined, although you may be happy to work as an intrapreneur or as a valuable member of an organisational team. If you start your own enterprise, you may need to cultivate stronger independent leadership qualities. Starting a business is only one option for you, and you would probably be equally happy to work as an employee as part of an organisational team or on your own projects.

Creative Tendency

Having a medium score, you may recognise yourself as being somewhat creative, although you are less likely to have radical, disruptive innovative ideas with game-changing impacts. However, you may be very good at finding and applying new technologies in a skillful way to your work, and may be practically productive in the way you develop and apply your skills. If you wished to develop a more innovative approach then you might like to consider developing your own latent creative skills.

The best conditions for creativity are in a relaxed space where you avoid critical thinking or thinking too fixedly on a problem, and then use techniques, such as brainstorming or mindmapping to generate lots of ideas. Part of the creativity process involves some idleness to allow the subconscious to work on ideas during an incubation phase. This may lead to sudden insights or Eureka moments, although creative ideas may be typically the result of an iterative process of thinking, using creative techniques, and relaxation to come up with good ideas.

⚡ Calculated Risk-Taking

You scored high for calculated risk-taking. This means that you may have the following qualities:

- Decisiveness, being able to act on incomplete information and good at judging when incomplete information is sufficient for taking action;
- Self-awareness with the ability to accurately assessing your capabilities;
- Analytical, being good at evaluating the likely benefits against the likely costs of actions;
- Goal-oriented, setting yourself challenging but attainable goals;
- Effective information management, using information to calculate the probability that your actions will be successful.

With a high score on calculated risk-taking you are likely to be very good at sizing up opportunities and filtering information to help you take calculated risks.

👤 Locus of Control

You scored highly in having an internal locus of control. This means that you may have the following qualities:

- Opportunism, seeking and taking advantage of opportunities;
- Self-confidence with the belief that you have control over your destiny and you make your own luck, rather than being controlled by fate;
- Proactivity, taking personal responsibility to navigate problems that arise to achieve success on your terms;
- Determination, expressing a strong will and seeking to exert control over your life;
- Self belief, where you equate the results achieved with the effort you make.

Having an internal locus of control means that you confidently seek to exert control over your life, drawing on your inner resources rather than depending on others. You strongly believe that your personal qualities and efforts will determine your success in life.

General Enterprising Tendency (GET2) Test Result Summary

The radar plot and chart show the characteristics of your GET2 test scores graphically. You can print the report off so that you can compare your chart with someone else’s chart, or you can compare your own chart with a new chart if you decide to re-take the test on a future date.

Ach = Need for Achievement | Aut = Need for Autonomy | Cre = Creative Tendency
Ris = Calculated Risk-taking | LoC = Locus of control

GET Score	76%
Achieve	75%
Autonomy	67%
Creative	67%
Risk taking	83%
Control	83%

We hope this report helps you understand the nature of your tendencies for general enterprise and that you recognise in the report some of your own traits. However, the author cannot accept any liability for the report or for these interpretations, which are offered in good faith. If you would like to know more about this test and how to improve your score, see the FAQ (index.html#faq). If you would like further information on the test, please consult the GET2 bibliographic references (index.html#academic). Please don't forget to leave us your feedback (get2feedback.html). The report can be printed if required.

Report date: Tue Oct 12 2021

Copyright © 2021 - Dr Sally Caird | All Rights Reserved